Appendix A: Routes through which schools can open since 1 February 2012

Since the commencement of schedule 11 of the Education Act 2011, a number of changes to the above have occurred:

- EIA 2006 section 6A (as introduced by EA 2011 schedule 11 paragraph 2) – requirement to seek proposals for establishment of new Academies. ‘If a local authority in England think a new school needs to be established in their area, they must seek proposals for the establishment of an Academy’ (specifically, a Free School).
- EIA 2006 section 7 (as amended by EA 2011 schedule 11 paragraphs 3 and 10) – competition. As before, but now requires consent of the Secretary of State to run – which will not be given unless section 6A has already been followed. Furthermore, it is now up to the Secretary of State to decide any Academy proposals before others are considered. Only if the Secretary of State rejects all Academy proposals, or directs that other proposals are to be considered, are other proposals subsequently considered. Finally, the local authority can no longer be propose schools through this route (and so Community schools cannot be proposed through this section at all).
- EIA 2006 section 10 (as amended by EA 2011 schedule 11 paragraph 6) – outside competition, with consent of the Secretary of State. VA schools can no longer be proposed through this route, as they can now be proposed through EIA 2006 section 11 instead. Furthermore, LAs can now only propose Community and Foundation schools through this section when the school will be providing education suitable only to the requirements of persons above compulsory school age, or is to replace one or more maintained schools.
- EIA 2006 section 11 (as amended by EA 2011 schedule 11 paragraph 7) – outside competition, without consent of the Secretary of State. VA schools can now be proposed through this route with no strings attached. LAs can now propose Community and Foundation schools through this section, but only if a section 7 competition is held, and no new schools are opened as a result.

Appendix D: Schools opening through section 482 – sponsor-led Academies

Approved by the Secretary of State

EduBase tells us that 153 sponsor-led Academies opened through section 482, from 25 May 2007 to its repeal on 29 July 2010.<sup>1</sup> In fact, they all opened prior to the coalition government. Of these 153 schools:

- 23 are Christian,
- 19 are Church of England,
- 1 is Roman Catholic, and
- 110 have no religious character.

In addition, one Academy with a Steiner ethos opened during this period (it is designated as having no religious character).

Rejected by the Secretary of State

The FOI for the number rejected by the Secretary of State was itself rejected, as being too costly, so it is difficult to do further analysis on this list.

<sup>1</sup> There were 203 Academies to open under Labour in total. 46 were prior to 25 May 2007, and four were subsequent to that date, but as a result of competitions.

Appendix E: Tables of closures

Appendix F: Changes in the type of establishment not requiring closure

The following schools changed type of establishment, without requiring closure. These schools did not change religious character, as this is not possible without the school closing.

Change in type	Number	Religious character
Community to Foundation	589	N/A
VA to Foundation	4	(4 have no religious character)
VC to Foundation	10	3 CofE, 1 Christian (6 have no religious character)
VC to VA	9	9 CofE
Total	612	12 CofE, 1 Christian (599 have no religious character)

Appendix G: Net of all changes

Note that what follows ignores schools opened as a result of the Academies Act 2010, or maintained schools converting to Academies. With that caveat, the number of maintained schools has decreased by 656. This is largely due to amalgamations. There have also been many schools (particularly Community schools) converting to Foundation schools.

The main point though is that the number of schools without a religious character has decreased twelve times more than the number of 'faith' schools – despite there only being twice as many schools without a religious character than 'faith' schools.
